Run 1530 , Monday 12 April 2010

Hare: Duckhead Mick - Location: Gungahlin Town Park

Run Reporter may provide something some time.

RUN NUMBER 1525 Hare:Mixo 1ST MARCH 2010

RUN REPORT

The Hash gathered at Fadden Pines for the first run of the new Mis-management with a couple of virgins and a visitor joining us for the run.

We were called to order by Sergeant Major Feloffa, the disciplinarian of an RA and our illustrious new GM, Rubber Duckie. By this stage, Mixo, Hare of the day, had hobbled back to give us the briefest of briefs for the run and we were off.....

Well, the run may have commenced but in typical Mixo style, we found ourselves after five minutes, about 100 metres from the start, going round in circles and totally confused. It was at this stage that the GM, having forgotten to appoint a run reporter in the circle, sidled up to this scribe and begged me to offer my literary skills to provide the run report. I, of course, am all too happy to assist the GM in any way he wishes and jumped with joy at the opportunity and provided an immediate response in the positive.

We eventually found a reasonably straightforward section of trail and left behind the Pines and ascended gently up through Macarthur with a number of FRBs including Gerbils leading the pack. Once again we found ourselves going up our own sphincters with a series of two ways and checks with the pack spread out along Jackie Howe Crescent looking for the trail. At this point, Meat, always looking for a short cut, decided to go straight up the hill into the Reserve and was followed by a number of back markers. Of course, Meat's excuse was he was setting himself up for some good photo opportunities as the pack later struggled up the hill towards him.

Meanwhile, the mugs followed the trail further up the hill to the right and true to form, Mixo had laid trail that took us back along the ridge towards Meat and adding 800m to the run.....

Up along the ridgeline we continued, the trail still featuring false trails and cut backs before we dropped back into Fadden and found ourselves totally confused by trail running through a fenced off school and oval. And then it was on to the drink stop and welcome replenishment of lost fluid before a short jog back to the circle. For the record, it was a varied trail with a good mixture of terrain and 8.5 km in length.

The circle got underway with most hashers asking where the fire bucket was, as by this time the temperature with the wind chill factor, had dropped to an uncomfortable level. We commenced with the run report followed by a welcome and customary down downs for our two virgins, Chelsea and Brook plus Violet, a visitor who obviously had some history with the Hash and possibly another Hash name.....

Returnees included Longdrop and your scribe, for being the ex GM. A questionable return if you ask me!

There were numerous charges handed out by the GM and RA:

- Toy Boy – For actually turning up for a run south of the lake and using a wanker phone at the hash.
- Me (Hidden Flagon) – for utilising the secretarial services of Drunken Tiger to take notes.
- Violet & Meat – for being sheep shaggers (Kiwis to those not culturally aware).
- Big Boy – for using a poor excuse to miss the drink stop. Something about tearing his ACL, an injury only sustained by elite athletes.
- Distemper & Digger2 – For turning up late for the AGPU and not dressed in Hash attire.
- Violet (again) – for telling a bad joke.
- Free Willie – For not being up to speed in her beer bitch duties.
- Me (again) (Hidden Flagon) – a late charge for making an early announcement.

Once again there was only one award available; the Big Prick went to me for some spurious reason that I would have been awarded it the previous week if not for protocol. Strange but there you are; anything can happen at the Hash. Oh, for the record Drunken Tiger was also honoured with a down down for mentioning I already had a suitably impressive appendage.

Although Drunken Tiger was totally incapable of reading the record sheets without her glasses and a flashlight, we worked out there were some anniversaries and birthdays to celebrate (or they were made up) with down downs going to Peeping Pervert, Mixo, Scarlet and Gerbils.

As custom dictates, the GM announced the circle was complete and we proceeded to feast on enough barbequed snags to feed the entire Centrelink customer base. By this stage the temperature had dropped sufficiently to keep the drink bucket cold without the aid of ice.

On On,
Hidden Flagon
