Run 1534 Monday 3 May 2010

Hare: Hidden Flagon - Location: Theodore Primary School

Details of Run: The run started well, plenty of checks (which in the end turned to an endless amount of checks) keeping all hashers well grouped. Most of the two ways and three ways were made obsolete by the hare declaring that the run did not leave the suburb of Theodore, therefore an easy guess as to where the trail was going. It did not take long for the girls to start stripping, with jumpers coming off fast after the start of the run, unfortunately they spoiled the view by covering their backsides with the same jumpers soon after.

Hello Kitty seemed to be on a lean for most of the run, due to the problem of her nose running twice as fast as she was. Once we hit the hills the run was up and down like the town bikes knickers, where the front runners left the others for dead and the GM was lost at the Hash halt. It went on and on till 7.30pm until we eventually came to the drink stop only 200 metres from the end of the run. At the drink stop we were served what seemed like warm cats piss, but I was told that it was some sort of warm cider/brandy concoction dreamed up by Hidden Flagon.

Back at the bucket, Felloffa was talking of a takeover because of the GM absence, but Rubber Duckie would have none of that wandering in just as the circle was about to be formed.

There were the usual suspect line-up returnees including: Frizzy, Hidden Flagon, Drunken Tiger, Mighty Aphrodite, and Gerbils (who said he had a sick note for sick months)

We had a christening, when Chelsea got named 'Box Packer' for her great logistic skills down under (she was almost a 'Done Deal' but was renounced at the last moment).

Hidden Flagon got a down down for being a Mummy's at his Mother's 80th birthday.

Anniversaries were: Dunny Gone 11tyeth, J.R. 760, Fur balls 848, D2Hd 1134, Mighty 166 and the R.A dobbed herself in for some extraordinary number.

Gerbil got fined another down down for pulling apart Mixo's trailer and although promising to reassemble it before going, scooted away never to return till 6 months later.

Meat said he couldn't let it go and fined Mighty for locking her keys in her car. Poo shooter got fined for being (or having a bitch) and downed his beer in no time flat, although he said he would prefer spanking. Hello Kitty and Frisky's also backstabbed each other causing an in house down down.

Then I had to have my say and managed to scare some reasonably new comers off with a disgusting joke about a gay leprechaun.

All's good.
